MONESSE

1922

Dedication

*TO THE PRESENT AND FORMER ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
TEACHERS IN THE MOMENCE COMMUNITY
HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT*

THE MONESSE 1922

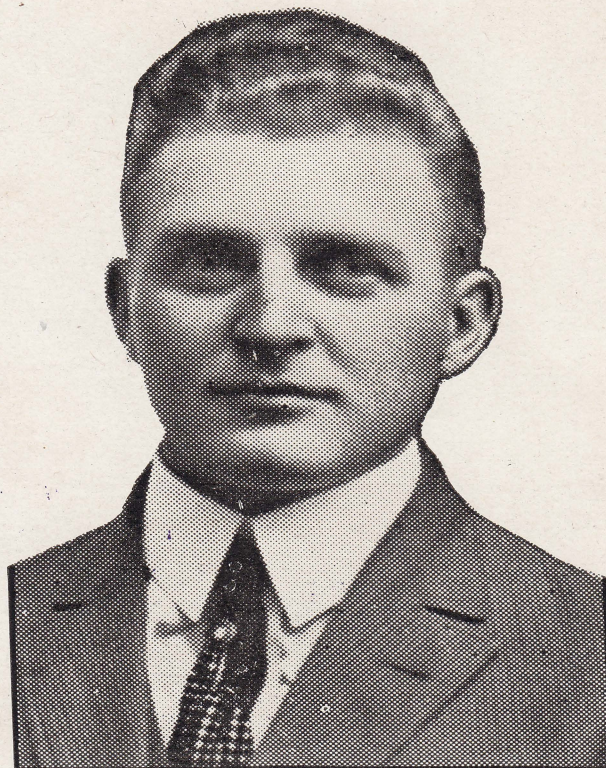

IS RESPECTFULLY DEDICATED BY THE CLASS OF 1923

Foreword

In compiling the material for the Monesse 1922, we have made an earnest endeavor to produce a Year Book that would include the faculty, the respective classes, the various organizations, all high school activities and some of the humorous events. Malice and spite have been eliminated, and we have tried to avoid everything of a personal nature. We sincerely hope that these pages will be read and interpreted in the same spirit in which they were written. May the Monesse 1922, therefore, serve as a record of the 1921-22 school year, revive and strengthen the spirit of loyalty, and enlist the co-operation of all friends of secondary education in the Momence Community High School District.

Our Friends the Enemy

(BY IRENE MULROONEY)

1. MUNSON

I adore Mr. Munson as all Seniors do,
"In the name of common sense" you'd better do so too.
Just respect him and say, "Yes Sir"
As he passes by your way
With a honeyed clement caution
To "get in to your rooms and stay."

II WILK

Wilk of course is a very bright chap,
We all know who engages his lap.
Recall his poem of class day night;
"Two arms, two arms, around a lady's waist."
Perhaps he knows how that goes,
Mr. Wilk, ain't that right?

III. HARDY

Miss Helena Hardy I may mention here,
But there might be disturbance from that little dear,
June is such a bright, lovable season,
And some folks just simply won't listen to reason.

IV. CURRENT

That delicious ripe fruit you all know I'm sure
But I haven't mentioned Miss Current before,
To the "Freshmen" she's that cross one with specs on her nose,
But, perhaps, who knows, she's somebody's rose.

V. MILLER

A jovial, roly, polly comes next by all rules,
The pet of the boy's, the pride of the school,
"Boys stop playing train," and chuckles of glee,
Is the one pleasant thing about our History III.

VI. KILBURNE

A wild, roving soldier boy, a true American,
Brought up our squad to the very last man,
His faults are but few, among them is one
“Now settle down to lessons, if you’re getting something done.”
He spent sometime in Toulons “over there” in France,
But the main things he learned were to promenade and dance.

VII. McMANNIS

To “Ginger” we owe the quality of this lovely feed,
A friend when in need is a friend indeed.
Some say she is spunky, and some say she is cross,
But to me she is really a “good cooking boss.”

VIII. LIBERTY

“Now, boys, let’s work and get something done,”
Liberty rules, that’s the end of fun.
The things made by him are made with some nerve in,
Why say they’re as nervy, as nervy as Irving.

IX. MELBY AND HARDY

Melby and Hardy might go in together,
Alice sets the laws while Helen gets the measures,
A tall graceful blonde, a firm decisive figure,
A short little brunette who’ll never get no bigger.

X. HUNGERFORD

I saw somethin’ comin’ a comin’ up the street,
When it drew closer to me it seemed to be a beet,
And when it passed right by me
Without a single word,
I smiled so very faintly for it was Hungerford.

XI. MCORE

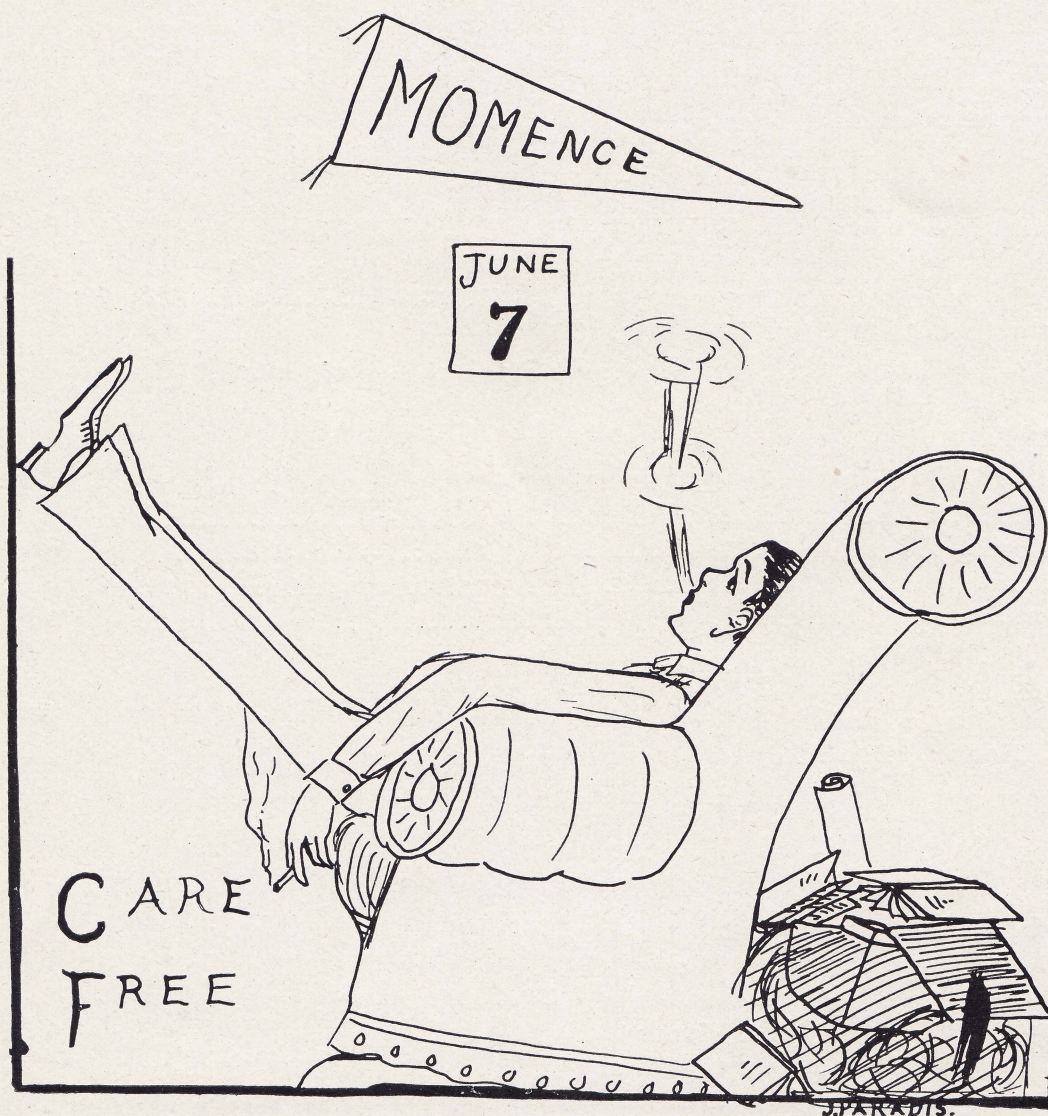

That’s not all the teachers for there’s one “More” of them,
The plus petite and cutest that ever held a pen,
She’s a cunning little rascal we like her quaint “Bien oui,”
She sure taught us to “Parley Aussi.”

These are all the teachers and now my duty’s done,
So as “Tiny Tim” observed, God Bless Us Everyone.

The Senior Class Prophecy

One evening not long ago, I sat by the fire, thinking of days long past when I was a Senior in dear old M. C. H. S. First one incident, and then another crossed my mind and I determined to find as many of those old friends and classmates as I could.

With this in mind, I set out next morning, but after a diligent search through "Who's Who in America," and various telephone directories I found news of only two of the graduates of '22. There was Orin Hertz, "Proprietor of the Too-Sweet Candy Shop," East Forty-second street, and Edith Gibson, Temple of Law, Washington Square.

I walked down the street, rather disappointed at the results of my labor. Just then a newsboy passed, shouting "Extra, Harriet Pittman wins campaign for Representative in Congress." I bought a paper and read the account of how Harriet had climbed from the position of stenographer in Donald Curtis' law office, to the brilliant height of political leader.

Turning around I ran into a blue uniformed policeman, who promptly told me to "watch my step." That voice sounded familiar and looking up I discovered the officer to be none other than Franklin Gamble! I apologized for the mishap and asked Franklin about the other members of the class. He was enthusiastic and declared that never was there a class to compare with ours. He said that Ruby Wilson was doing well as teacher of Physics in the new high school building and making friends with all her pupils, especially those of the opposite sex. Elva Jones was Domestic Science teacher in the same school.

Lucille (formerly Mills) was now treasurer of the Electric Shop, of which I have heard a great deal, and Irene Mulrooney was assistant cap cutter in a certain well known factory. Gladys Stearman is now engaged as Secretary to Albert Kelson, president of the United Soda Jerkers Union, and there are rumors, Franklin said, of a permanent engagement.

One of the most startling facts that he told me was that Clyde Coffel had written a History of the World and was considered a close rival of H. G. Wells.

Then there was Leota Smith starring as the daring aviatrix in the production entitled "In the Land of Yoo-Vamp-Um," with Wesley Langdoc playing opposite. These two had shown their ability along this line even as far back as our high school days.

Clarice Lamport, after having a thrilling romance, left for England as Lady Vincent, and is now a prominent club worker and leader in English society.

Our class has produced several literary lights, among whom Gladys Hardy and her exquisite poetry rank foremost. Ruth Searls now writes excellent articles for the Review of Reviews, and Robert Hanlon is editor-in-chief of the Brooklyn Eagle.

At the close of our conversation Franklin invited me to call at his home to renew my acquaintance with his better half, Mildred Rice.

Walking on down the street I came to the Temple of Law. I entered the elevator, a newly designed apparatus with many automatic safety devices. The elevator boy proudly informed me that its designer was Fred Brassard, famed for that particular kind of invention. This news rather surprised me, for I had not known Fred to have a mechanical mind when we were in high school. But then, you never know who will be the next genius.

Deposited at Edith's door I was condescendingly received by a brass-buttoned office boy who requested me to wait until Miss Gibson finished with her client. Presently she emerged from her office, the same kind, intelligent Edith I had known.

She was glad to give me all the information I wished, so I found that Elizabeth LaRoche was enjoying a honeymoon in New York, freely spending Mr. Chamberlain's dollars, said dollars being obtained by matching pennies with John D. Rockefeller.

Then there was Howard Sharkey, well known resident of Salt Lake City. Why he chose that place of abode is best known to Howard himself, but Edith and I decided that he must have suddenly become religious.

Leroy Clawson has a date orchard in California, so the reason he remains a bachelor is unknown.

Edith told me that Helen Nichols was dean of a prominent girls' college, and Elizabeth Popejoy was giving dancing lessons in Helen's school.

I was pleased to know that Jennie Pedersen was now the wife of a quiet Superintendent of Public Instruction. Jennie always was such a wild little thing!

Edith had given me only ten minutes to talk so now I rose to go. On my way to the door she remembered that we had said nothing of Ruth Chatfield, who was going around the world in search of the missing link, and Florence Greenawalt, who is endeavoring to bring knowledge to the heathen in the East.

I left Edith with a feeling of satisfaction that our class had all done so well in the world, but pondering over the variety of their occupations I remembered that nothing had yet been found out about the fate of Mina Ostermeyer and Arthur Hupp. Later I discovered them both on a farm, Mina being a lovely farmerette, with Arthur as foreman.

Alfred Weichen is cashier in a Grant Park bank and Leta Livingston and Lillian Neeld own a Modiste's Shop in the same town.

Walter Logan has directed several of Leota's plays and Jennie Harms is in Hollywood painting scenery.

Out of that entire class of thirty-seven boys and girls not one has fallen on the way to success, and it surely is a class of which we may all be proud.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior class of 1922, of the Momence Community High School, of Ganeer township across the Dixie from Momence, in the county of Kankakee, in the state of Illinois and of the United States of America, being but feebly represented by three of our most extreme members and under the careful supervision of Mr. Irving Munson, do hereby declare, publish, and make as our earnest wishes th's will of our belongings and the belongings of others as hereunto ascribed below.

To Mr. Munson we bequeath Lillian Neeld's harsh, boisterous voice that he may the better restrain the Freshmen.

To Miss Alice Hardy we extend our sincere hopes that in the near future she may induce Alfred Weichen to really get his bookkeeping.

To Mr. Hungerford we bequeath Miss Miller's ability to cover the basketball floor.

To Miss Moore and Miss Melby we bequeath the domain of Miss McMannis and Mr. Kilburne that they may be a little nearer heaven.

We bequeath to Miss Current Mina Ostermeyer's dimples.

To Helen Gleason, we bequeath Helena Hardy's success in love.

To the Junior class, our immediate successor's we bequeath the management of the Lyceum Course, and best wishes that they may acquire our standard of scholarship and our fame as partakers in student activities.

To Arthur Nusbaum we bequeath yards of hair ribbon to tie up that mop of hair.

To Dewey Line we bequeath Harriet Pittman's graceful figure, by special request.

To Esther Nelson we bequeath Hanlon's curly hair that she may be able to do it up in the morning.

To Grace and Austin we bequeath Orin Hertz's quiet gentle laugh, there being sufficient for both.

To the two little Leggs we bequeath Donald Curtis' superfluous feet, thinking they might sometime come in handy. (We mean footy.)

To Gladys DuMontelle we bequeath Wesley Langdoc's ability to remain slender and sylphlike.

To Joey Bydalek we bequeath Jennie Pedersen's tendency to come to class without her lesson.

To Lucy Yates we bequeath Franklin Gamble's charm and litheness of limb.

To Josephine Wennerholm we bequeath Ruby Wilson's art of entertaining us with her woes and worries, trials and tribulations.

To Pearl Brassard we bequeath Mary Harlan's ocular allurements.

To Dorothy Peterson we bequeath Florence Greenawalt's loudness and turbulence.

In witness whereof I have hereby set my hand and seal this twenty-second day of March, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred twenty-two.

[SEAL]

WALTER LOGAN.

Signed, sealed, published, and declared to be by the Senior class their last will and testament, in the presence of us, who, at their request and in their presence and in the presence of each other, have hereunto subscribed our names as attesting witnesses to said instrument.

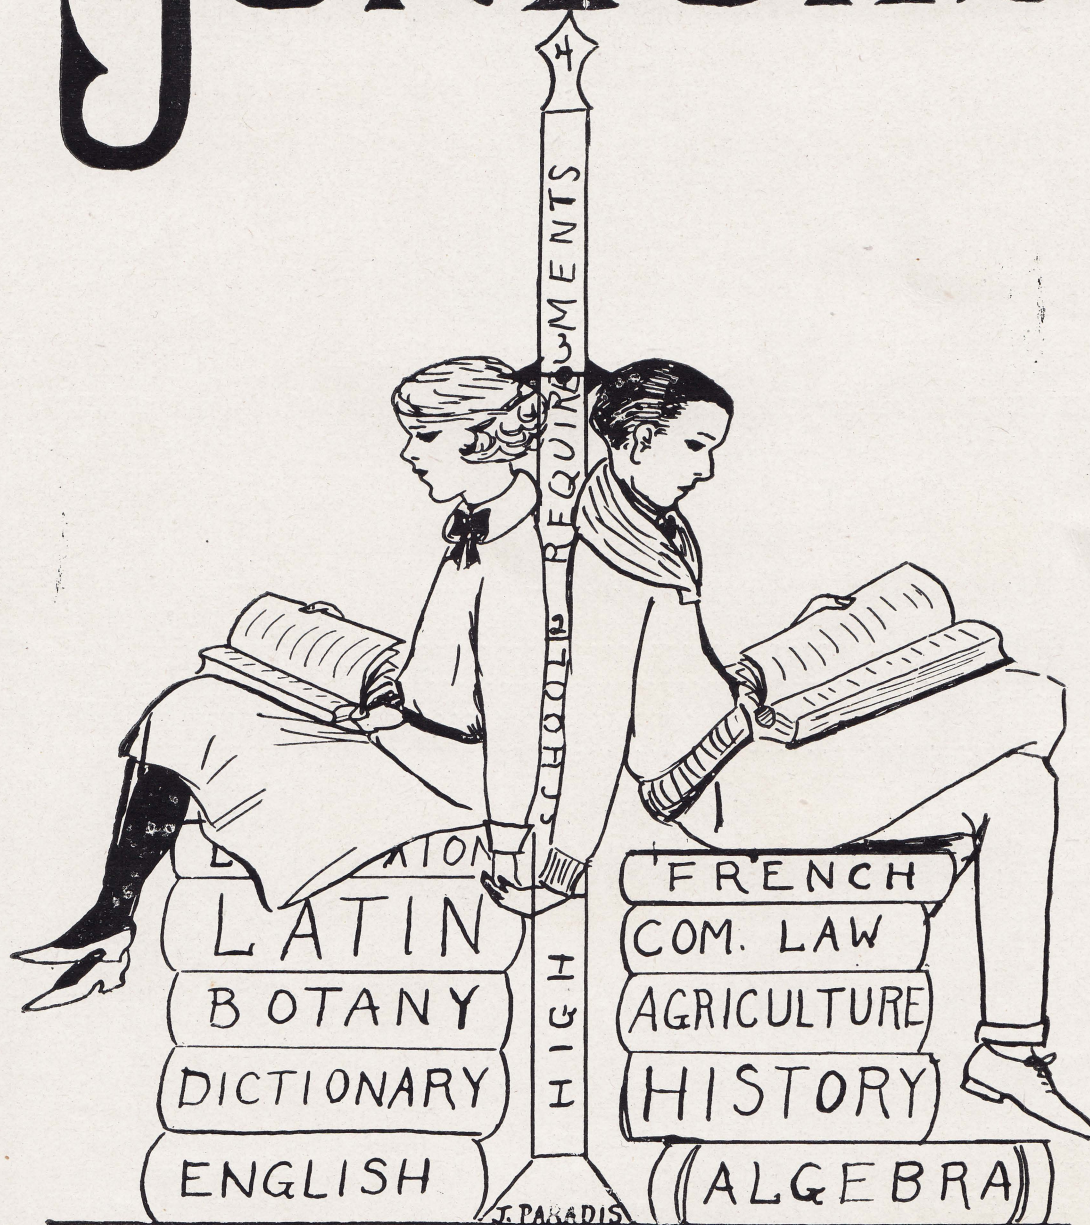

J. IRENE MULROONEY,

M. ELIZABETH POPEJOY,

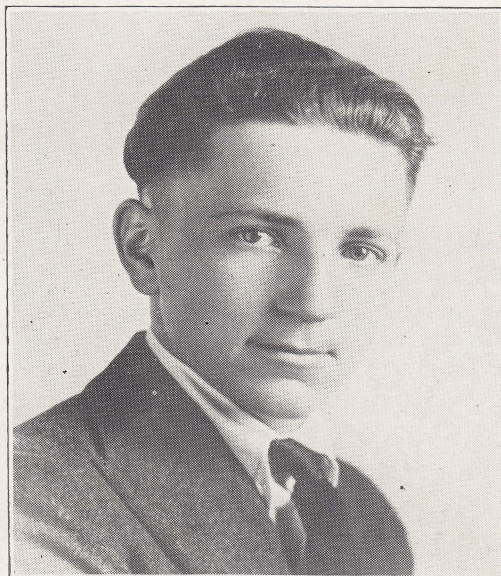

Witnesses.

Ticks from the Town Clock

Well, here it is 4:15 already, and I've got to announce it to the public. Bing! Pong! Ding! Dong! There. That is over for fifteen minutes more, anyway, and I surely need the rest. People think that it is a very easy job that I have—just sitting on the corner of the bank, and keeping time. But when you have to shout at the top of your voice every fifteen minutes—I tell you it gets pretty tiresome.

I wonder what is the matter with the school children? They have not come by yet. Mr. Munson must have had a general assembly.

Oh, here they come now. Of course that boy with the long legs is leading the procession. He always does. My! what steps he takes. I guess that he is anxious to get to the postoffice and get his wireless magazine. And he must have a nickname too, because a boy just called him "Beans," and that could hardly be his real name.

Whose car can that be that is going by? It is a Case roadster and it is painted gray. It usually goes north about noon and then comes back with three girls beside the driver. I wonder who they can be?

Goodness, but that post office must be a popular place. I should like very much to see the inside of it sometime, but I suppose that I never will, because I am anchored to the bank so tight that I can scarcely breathe.

Well look who is coming now! If it isn't that girl with the light hair. She always combs it straight back too. I wonder why? The girl that she is walking with doesn't. Her hair is all fluffy and puffed out at the ears. I wonder if her head is really shaped that way? I just overheard them talking about torn papers, so they must be Juniors. I don't know whether they are sisters or not, but they are always together. Maybe they room at the same house.

Well, the procession's almost over. I wonder who the little sawed-off boy is? He has just donned long pants. He always goes to the post office and generally takes a package with him to Hack's Dry Goods Store. He probably works there.

Here come a boy and girl together. Who can they be? A fellow just behind them called her "Maggie," but that made her angry, so that can't be her name.

There is the end of the parade at last, and it is a boy with two girls. The boy has a wide grin on his face. He must be happy. He just called one of the girls "Filly." But that is a boy's name. Goodness! in these days boys have girls names and girls have boys names. It is hard to tell some of them apart.

It is now 4:29. In one minute more I've got to go to work. It is sure a hard life.

See the budding FRESHMAN;
Behold his form so lean!
How weak he is!
How meek he is!
His head is filled with green!

See the gallant SOPHOMORE;
Behold his face so fair!
How proud he is!
How stern he is!
His skull is filled with air!

PARIS AND GAIETY

An Experiment in Vers Libre

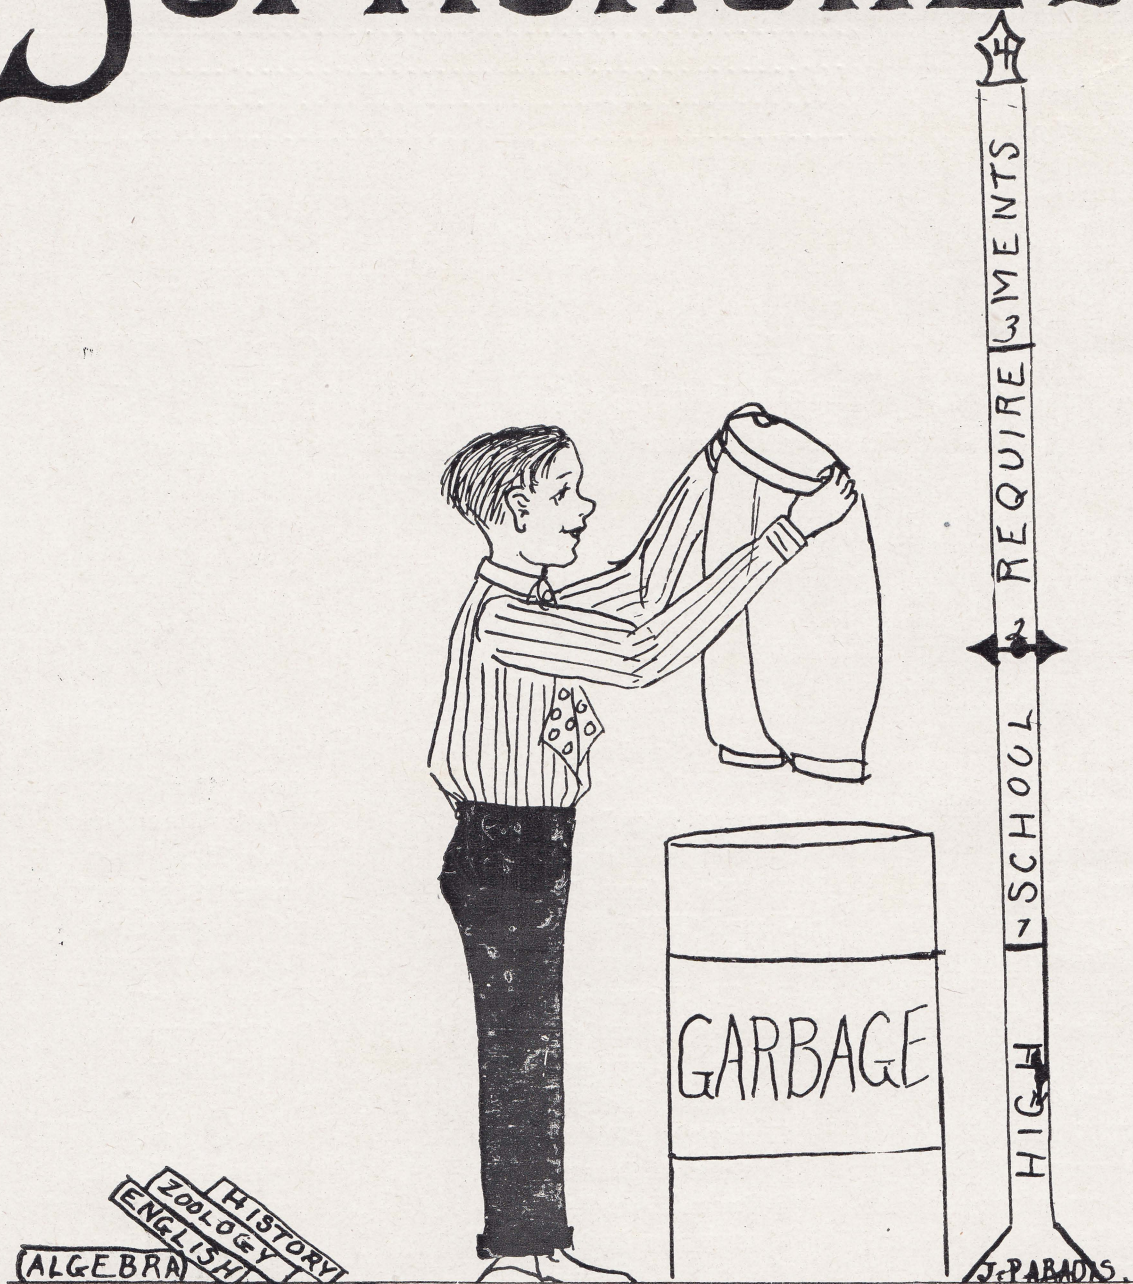

I have seen your Paris!
I have seen your poor trudging
Wearily down your narrow, dirty streets.
I have been kissed by your frivolous, painted women,
I have looked into mocking, scorning, haughty eyes;
I have been jeered at, laughed at, and stared at—
Because being an American I had principals.
I have been a part of your gaiety!
I have danced until morning
With beautiful tempting women.
I have tasted your wines until I was the clown of Paris.
I have seen and worn Parisian costumes until I long for America!
America with her morals, her peaceful beauty,
I have been entertained until I long for the peaceful West of the United States,
And Paris, I have seen your men!!
Your men with their piercing dark eyes and wonderful black hair.
Men with handsomely manicured nails.
I have seen your wasted fields,
I have seen your war medals,
I have loved your women, been a comrade to your men, a playmate to your children.
I have seen your beautiful scenery,
I have read of your men and their heroic deeds but—
Give me God's country!
Ah yes, give me United States with its warm south, its gay east,
Its delightful north and its heaven—The West.

A Terrible Disease

Oh, what has Fate designed for me,
That I should be bereft of glee.
My eyes no longer glisten bright;
Nothing seems to be going right.
I try to study, but I just can't.
And, oh! the teachers fairly rant.
My mother fears I'm very ill,
And daddy says I need a pill.
But I just heard from "Doc" Deceiver,
That I have what you call "Spring Fever."

An Uprising in a Garbage Can

"Have mercy upon us, but it's hot in here. Can't you or won't you please move over a little; you're lying square on my neck and I can hardly breathe," pitifully begged Catsup Bottle.

"Cheer up," echoed Dill Pickle, "You're not the only one in here and you're not going to have any more room than's coming to you. No sir, I won't move, I'm perfectly comfortable, thanks. I'm as cool as a cucumber."

"I sure would like to lay hands on the guy who threw me in here. Why in the name of common sense didn't he eat me. I'd at least be out of my misery," poor Salmon whimpered. "It makes me so homesick every time they take the lid off and let in some cool fresh air; it reminds me so much of my beloved home in Alaska. I almost break down when I think of it. I'll bet anything I've had more travels than any of you. I was born near Behring Strait. I had three sisters and one brother. We were a happy family. But this soon ended for I was caught in a net one afternoon and hauled ashore at Tin City. I flopped around on the wharf with many of my other unlucky brethren until we were taken away and packed in salt. I don't think I ever wanted a drink any more than I did then. Well, they got an order in a few days for some salmon, stating clearly that they wanted some of the best salmon which could be obtained. I was one of the first taken. A—hem! We were loaded on a boat. I don't remember anything after that as it was all dark, but I came into Momence on the C. M. & G. I sure have had some experience, some experience."

Oh, cut it out," interrupted Dill Pickle. "In talking of experience I have had some experience, too. Why, I came all the way from Wichert by myself and

"And me, I came from India," announced Tea Leaves. "When I was young and fresh I was a beauty. I am one of the favorites of all India. The Russians like me to but that is when I become old and dried up. I've traveled in carts, sail boats, steam ships, trains and in a man's pocket. Don't get riled up coffee grounds. I'm as much a favorite as you among the people."

"Say Coffee," addressed Dill Pickle, "If tea leaves have you grounds for divorce?"

None of your smartness, young fellow. Tea Leaves and I are no relation whatsoever and we do not intend to be, indeed not! As much salt as you have I'd think some of your freshness would be taken out of you. You're always causing an uprising in this can when we're so crowded we can hardly breathe."

"Oh, dear, I do believe my sight has failed me since I've been down here in the dark," cried the potato. "I can't see, but I know I'm up against something awfully strong because I've been pushed into the side of the can until I'm all out of shape."

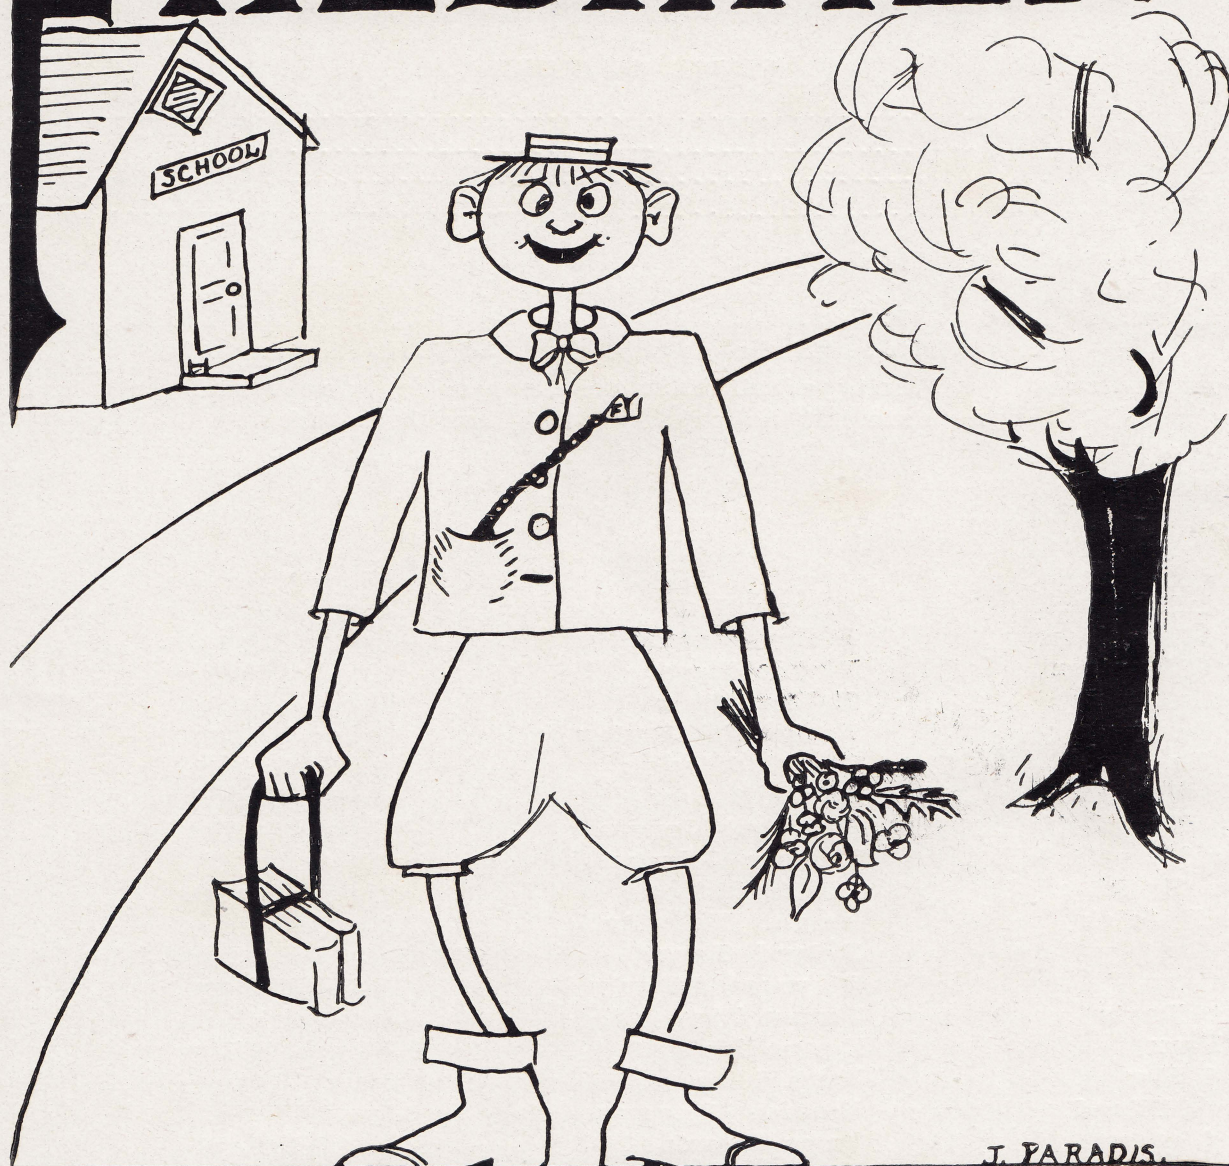

"Why that's our dear friend Sir Limberger Cheese over there. He's not very big but he's strong," Dill Pickle commented to Cabbage.

"My head aches terribly and that must be it, but say, you bloomin' cucumber, can't you move over? You're running your warts right into my head."

"Hurrah, the garbage man is taking off the lid. Oh, enter beautiful most welcome air," the poor little insignificant crust of bread yelped.

"Me for the water, I'm dreadfully sorry you can't swim but I'm leaving you, Good-bye," called back the salmon as the man dumped the garbage into the old Kankakee.

Freshmen Red Letter Days, 1921-22

September 7—High School machinery a puzzle. Some of the Freshies get tangled while others get by on pretense.

September 20—Class officers elected. Fifteen candidates for the presidency, twenty for the vice-presidency, eighteen for secretary-treasurer and every member of the class was a candidate for class historian. Some election!

November 10—Freshmen party in Philo Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Munson, Mr. Wilk and Miss Current were the chaperons. There were no more chaperons available for the occasion. Refreshments were light.

December 5—Dewey Line displays a pair of long trousers.

December 19—All Freshies come to school with hair combed, nails manicured and faces nearly powdered. All students were wondering why. The class had decided to have a picture taken.

December 20—Fred Higgins sports a pair of long trousers.

December 21—Joseph Higgins enlongates his trousers.

January 4—Amasa Kennedy has a private interview with the Superintendent. They both go for a stroll and Amasa picks up the paper on the campus.

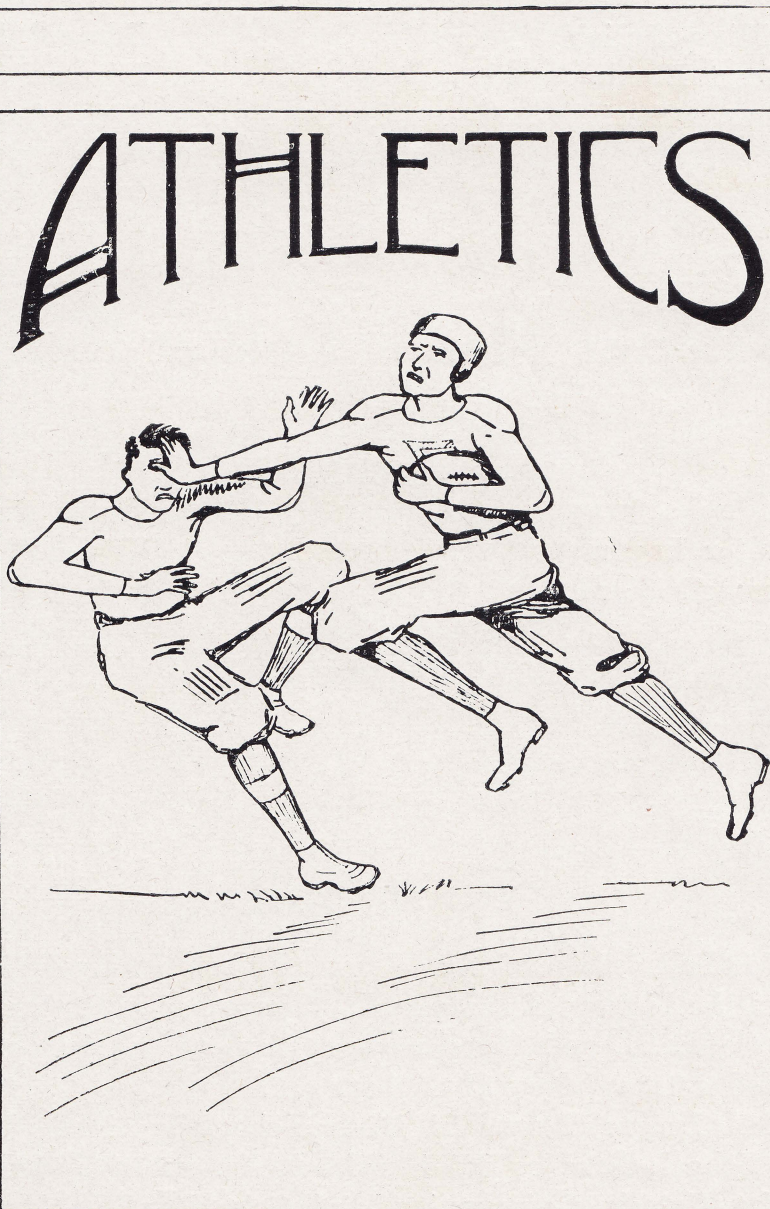

February 23—Liberty's short trousers lose their liberty. An extension to the shoe tops has been made.

February 24—Dale Walker also sports a longer pair.

February 25—All Freshmen attend the Year Book Banquet. They enjoyed the feed immensely.

Foot Ball

The 1921 Football season of the Momence Community High School was the most successful in the history of the school. There has never been a stronger team representing M. C. H. S., and there are very few schools in eastern Illinois that have ever produced a team of equal caliber.

They defeated Bloom Township High School (Chicago Heights), Milford Township High School, Bradley High School, Thornton Township High School (Harvey), and the Watseka Community High School and lost to the LaSalle-Peru Township High School after holding them to a tie in the first half. The defeat of the Watseka Community High was the greatest victory of the season. The game was played at Watseka and proved to be a surprise not only to the Watseka rooters but also to the heavy Watseka team. Credit of the season is due to every man of the team. With unusual pep and determination the eleven men worked together as a perfect machine.

When Coach Kilburne extended the first call for practice, Captain Cantway responded with plenty of men who knew the fundamentals of football. With good material available and unusual enthusiasm, Coach Kilburne soon whipped into shape a strong line and a fast and hard-hitting backfield. The backfield was, without doubt, one of the best in the state. It consisted of the Cantway brothers, Hupp, Logan and Ward. They were well adapted to their respective positions and with previous experience well qualified for fast running and hard hitting. The large scores were due largely to the work of the backfield.

The material for the line, however, was not as promising. There was adequate weight, but several of the men were inexperienced. After a great deal of hard work, hard and consistent practice and a great deal of worry, Coach Kilburne succeeded in developing a line that was not penetrated until the game with LaSalle-Peru. The line was composed of the following: Hanlon, Julian, Coffel, ends; Bennison, Hess, Fox, guards; Hyrup, A. Cantway, center; Davis, Brassard, tackles. The entire line worked in harmony, and, as a rule stuck to the game until the final whistle.

The results of the season are as follows:

Momence Community High School....	55	Bloom Township High School.....	0
Momence Community High School....	88	Milford Township High School.....	7
Momence Community High School....	66	Bradley High School.....	14

Hupp, Logan, Hanlon, Hyrup and Coffel will graduate at the close of the present school year. Consequently, they will not report with next year's squad. They rank with the best players on the team and were directly responsible for many of the victories. However, Captain-elect Elmer Cantway will, without doubt, have a strong team next season. There are twelve experienced men and a wealth of new material that will enter from the city and rural grade schools.

Capt. Cantway, halfback: Did you see that streak of lightning tear down the field? It's the thrill producer of every game—Mitch the accurate, the speedy, the all reliable football man. As one critic said, "he plays college football," and so say all, the star of the Momence team. He could always be depended on to twist through the line and across the coveted goal line. He has one more year to lead the team in scoring.

Capt.-elect Elmer Cantway was one of the best back Momence had. He won the honor of Captain by his brilliant record. Elmer was one of our greatest ground gainers and could always be depended upon in a pinch. He did a large part of the punting until he was injured. He was the speediest man on the team and was in on all interference and every play. He will be back next year to go through a similar season.

Hupp, our quarterback, had never played the position but was well adapted for the place. He handled the ball well at all times. When in a tight place, he never lost his head. We lost Hupp this year. He not only handled the ball well but did all the passing and practically all the good kicking.

Logan, the fast and husky fullback, was in every play. He gave wonderful interference on offensive plays and was a stone wall on defense. Hard tackling was his specialty to which many teams will testify. We lose him this year and it is doubtful if we can get a man to fill his place.

Ward, a small but fast player, did not play one position all the time but changed from half to end, playing a good game in both positions. His grabbing of passes was a feature in more than one game. Max will be with the squad next season.

Hanlon, end. The work of this player at end was remarkable for such a light player. He could grab passes from the air when it seemed almost impossible. His lack of weight did not discourage him and he stopped nearly every play around his end. We lose him this year and his going will leave a vacant place. It is hard to find a good man who will put up a game like "Bob" did at all times.

Julian, End. "Bill" our lanky end, could be seen almost any time in a game spilling interference or grabbing passes from the air. When the ball hit his hands it stuck there. His large gains by forward passes helped Momence greatly in scoring. Bill has another year to play.

Hess, guard. "Ed" played a good brand of football. He played in most of the games and made his end of the line almost impossible to go through. Ed played with the tackle and center which probably accounts for the small scores of our opponents. Hess has another year in M. C. H. S.

Bennison, guard. He always went into a game determined to fight. He played well with his teammates which accounts for the progress made in his first year of football. Warren is a freshman and has three more seasons to play.

Fox, guard. Ed came out with a determination to make the team. He played in most of the games. He had weight and knew the principles of the game which made him a good player. He played the same kind of a game all through the season. Ed has three more seasons of football and much is expected of him next year.

Hyrup, center. "Spruter" did not play in many games this year on account of an injury received during the previous season. He played a wonderful game until he was forced to quit. He was accurate and fast and made a good center.

A. Cantway, center. "Snipes" did not play at the first of the season, but, on account of an injury to the regular center, "Snipes" was the man to be relied upon. His passing was accurate and he could "hold his man out." He has three more seasons to play.

Davis. Our 130 pound tackle was pitted against the biggest men in the country but none of them put anything over on "Davy." He was in the game all the time and showed that he had speed and wonderful endurance. Co-operation with his fellow players made him one of the best tackles on the team. He has two more seasons to play.

Brassard, tackle. The big man of our line came from Morgan Park Academy where he had had a year's experience. Weight and speed combined with experience made his side of the line almost impossible to penetrate. Other teams will testify that Brassard's famous "bear hug" would always bring the opponent to the ground.

Sherwood, sub. half. "Shorty" did not get to show his wares this season because of lack of experience. But with the experience gained, Shorty should make a star player next year.

Hertz, sub. guard. "Speedy" is a Senior and goes out this year. He did not get in many games, but when he did, he went in to fight and win.

Coffel, end. "Coffee" did not get in many games, but, when he did, he put up a good game. He was a hard worker and always got good results. "Coffee" graduates this year.

Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association was organized in October, with the following officers:

President.....	Julie Paradis
Vice-President.....	Pearl Brassard
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Jennie Pedersen

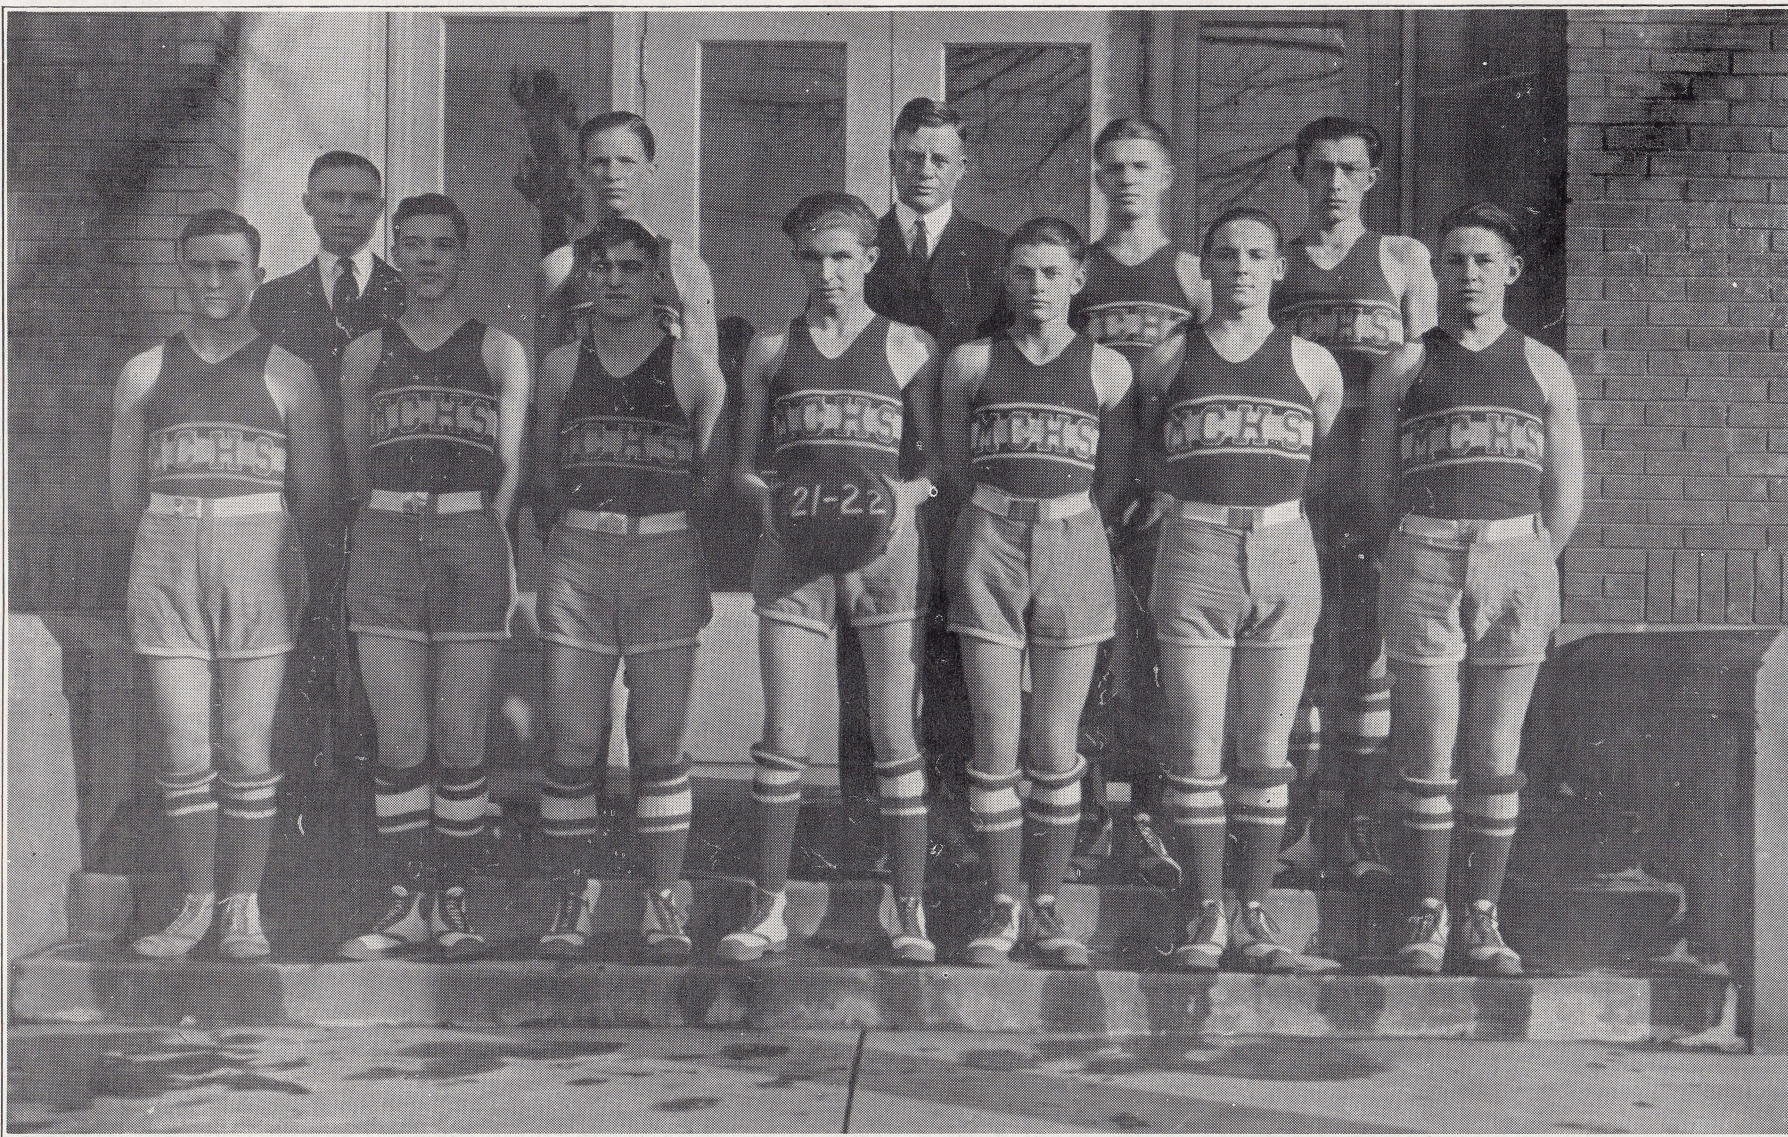

Fifty-two were enrolled, but the number has now dropped to thirty. Under the leadership of Miss Current and Miss Miller, the girls have met every Wednesday for calisthenics, folk dancing and basketball. Several hikes have also been taken.

On March 22, 23, 24, an inter-class basketball tournament was held, ending in a public demonstration of all work on the evening of March 24. The class championship goes to the Seniors, who defeated the Sophomores in two closely contested games. During the spring, hiking and baseball were substituted for indoor sports.

Track 1921

The Momence Community High School entered the Annual Kankakee County Track and Field Meet with very little training. The men representing M. C. H. S. were as follows: Clyde Cantway, Atherton Cooke, Donald Curtis, Wilmet Green, Edmond Hess, Albert Hunte, Albert Hyrup, Walter Logan and Maxwell Ward. They made a very good showing in the various events and won second place. Atherton Cooke ran the fifty yard dash in the record time of 5:03. No other contestant equalled the established county records, and the meet as a whole was a little slow. First place was awarded to Kankakee, second to Momence, third to Bradley and fourth to St. Anne. M. C. H. S. expects to win the 1922 meet.

BASKET BALL. FIRST SQUAD

Basket Ball

The 1922 basketball season was very successful. We won more than one-half of the scheduled games, but lost in both the County and District Tournaments. All of the schools played with the exception of St. Anne and Bradley, are larger than M. C. H.S. We defeated St. Anne twice, the Alumni, Fenger High School (Chicago), Bradley and Bloom High (Chicago Heights), but lost to Blue Island, Donovan and Watseka. However, these teams had exceptional standing in high school basketball circles,, but they were unable to pile up a large score against M. C. H. S.

Coach Wilk had a difficult proposition to face throughout the season. Among the men available for basketball there was not an accurate basket-shooter to be found. It was necessary to rely upon Weichen, Julian, Nusbaum, Hanlon, Ward Cantway, Truitt and Hyrup were selected for the guard positions. In view of the fact that basket-shooting was a difficult proposition for every member of the squad to master, it was necessary to work up a strong defense style of play, which was productive of very favorable results. However,, the entire squad was aware of the fact that good basketball is always the result of team work, and no player let the ambition to be an individual star shatter the work of the team as a whole. Every member of the squad obeyed the training rules and co-operated faithfully with the coach.

The following men will graduate: Captain Hanlon, Logan and Weichen. However, seven of the veterans remain, and they will form the nucleus of next next year's team. Games will be scheduled with some of the leading suburban schools and the old gym will be the scene of many fast and spectacular games. The individual players may be characterized in the following manner:

Captain Robert Hanlon, high score man and good in floor work.
 Clyde Cantway, running guard and good floor man.
 Elmer Cantway, stationary guard and good in perfecting the floor machine.
 Edmond Hess, forward and strong on the last minute lucky shots.
 Albert Hyrup, guard and center and a good utility man.
 Walter Logan, back guard, playing close and fighting all the time.
 Arthur Nusbaum, good forward and good foul shooter.
 Austin Truitt, a fast running guard but a little light.
 Max Ward, a hard-working floor man in either guard or forward positions.
 Alfred Wiechen, a strong center and next to Captain Hanlon in scoring.
 William Julian, good at center and in floor work.

The results of the season are as follows:

BASKET BALL. SECOND SQUAD

History of the Glee Club

By LUCILLE MILLS

During the year 1919-20, we organized the Glee Club with about thirty-five charter members of whom only six active members remain. They are Lula Jones, Gladys Hardy, Esther Nelson, Barbara King, Lelia Inslee and Hilma Johnson. Our first rendition was "Echo is a Timid Maid."

The same year we gave "Princess Chrysantemum" with the assistance of the Orth sisters and Edmond Hess, Albert Bydalek and Ernest Hardy. We also gave a party during this school year. Our first party as a club was held at the home of Genola Walker, and our officers for the first year were Alma Hall, President; Helen Fox, Vice-president; and Ruby Ross, Secretary-Treasurer.

In September 1920, we organized for the year by electing Ione Chappel, President, and Julie Paradis, Secretary-Treasurer. About twenty girls were admitted. We held the first party in Gymnasium and all the old members were dressed as ghosts and pretended to put the new members through various kinds of torture. With the assistance of the orchestra we gave a Christmas concert shortly before the holidays and later in the season "Sylvia" was rendered.

We organized for the present school year by electing Lula Jones, President, Florence Greenawalt, Vice-President and Lucille Mills, Secretary-Treasurer. Our activities during the year have been the annual party, one concert, a stunt show and a banquet. The party was held in the Physics laboratory and the pranks and stunts were enjoyed by all. The club will also sing at the Commencement Exercises which is the first time we have been honored with this invitation.

Faces

Faces—what a multitude on every side
Is seen when on a busy street you ride!
All kinds and colors, shapes and sizes,
Whose station in life one but surmises.

Many faces are worn with care and gloom,
Where joyous thoughts seldom if ever bloom.
In others, the look of despair abides,
Yet in years to come, they will carry freight.

Yet here is one with a happy look,
Whose eyes 'mind one of a laughing brook.
No cares rest on those shoulders straight,
Yet in years to come they will carry freight.

Ah, would that sorrow, greed, and sin
Could be kept away with a hearty grin;
Replaced by a look that was honest and kind,
That view the world with a clean mind.

Would that the love of God would shine
From the faces through the grime!!
Dispel all doubt and strengthen their hearts
So that faith in God would never depart.

Orchestra

The orchestra started out with a "grand entrance," just look at our picture! But, like the "Ladies' Aid" there are left a few faithful ones to "carry on."

We have had some startling moments. First, some one er-a-took Clifford's Violin when he wasn't looking, Mary was stuck in the mud one evening so she couldn't come in to practice and Mr. Wilk's trumpet refused to play at a critical time during our concert, but we always "came up smiling."

Those who were accredited for this year are the following:

Claude Styles, violin
Mary Harlan, violin
Austin Truitt, trombone
Grace Hardy, piano

Mr. Wilk plays cornet and Duane Dunton (Sixth Grade)) drums and we have recently added Maxwell Ward and his clarinet.

A few of the members have had to drop the work because of bad roads but they hope to be with us again before Commencement so that we may finish up the year as we started "A Grand Exit."

The Agricultural Club

Donald Chipman

The first meeting of the Agricultural Club was held on September 22, 1921 and the following officers were elected:

President.....Elroy Sergeant
Vice-President.....Elmer Tanner
Secretary-Treasurer.....Donald Chipman
Program Leader.....Wesley Langdoc

About nine old members were present and twenty new ones were voted in.

The meetings were held on the first and third Tuesdays of every week, with a few exceptions, due to bad weather. The meetings generally consisted of a main feature, either an illustrated talk with slides or charts or a talk by an out-of-town speaker. Refreshments always had to be one of the features, and was considered one of the main ones by some of the members. Many discussions were held as a result of our Agricultural Question Box.

The Club has developed several new ideas and accomplished much more than last year. In February a Farm Account Short-Course was held lasting for ten days. Twelve students took the course, and are now keeping accurate records of the farm.

Our membership is not confined to Agricultural students, but all men interested in better farming may join.

Our motto is, "Make the Better Best."

French Club

"Les Joyeux Coeurs" meet every two weeks on Monday evening. At first the meetings were held at school, but later when it became colder they were held at the different homes.

The meetings are very enjoyable. Sometimes French games are played. At one meeting several piano selections from French composers were rendered and at another reports were given about France and its people. The French classes each gave an interesting little play before the other members.

The officers of the club are as follows:

President.....	Julie Paradis
Vice-President.....	John Butterfield
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Jennie Pedersea

Lecture Course

The Lecture Course for 1921-22 was obtained through the Brown Lyceum Bureau. The credit for the success is due to the Senior Class because of their splendid selections. The first number was a lecture on October 12 by the Honorable Leslie M. Shaw. He is a noted man having been Secretary of the Treasury during Theodore Roosevelt's administration. The next number was a concert by the Ernest Gamble Concert Party. It was given on November 17 and was one of the best concerts ever given in Monesse. The third number was on December 23, by Homer the Magician, who amused all by his clever tricks. On January 5, Dr. H. H. Burns delivered his lecture on "Cords and Discords." The fifth number was given on February 8 by the Theodore Knox Concert Party. This party consists of four very talented saxophone players. They were also talented in giving readings and piano selections. The last number was the Senior Class play, entitled "A Box of Monkeys." The course was a financial success and practically all the patrons voted for a course next year.

"A Box of Monkeys"

It is impossible to forecast the success of the Senior play at the early hour this book goes to press, but when one recognizes the ability of the cast, the future seems quite rosy.

The cast is small owing to the scarcity of boys in the Senior Class, therefore each one has a "leading part."

Leota Smith romps through the play as a breezy western girl, (Sierra Bengaline,) taking great pleasure in shocking the prim, demure Lady Guinevere (Clarice Lamport.) With marked ability Leota easily portrays her part.

Clarice (the English Lady) carries off her part exceedingly well.

Mina Ostermeyer (Mrs. Ondego Jones) excellently presents the character of a social "climber." By voice and actions she cleverly gives the right impressions.

Arthur Hupp, as the "Impecunious nephew in law" (Edward Ralston) ingeniously pictures a versatile American who can "bottle" and instruct others in love-making—an act in which he is proficient.

Clyde Coffel, as the stammering Chauncey Oglethorpe, is quite apt to convulse the house because he is so "shy, so very, very shy."

With this brief resume it is evident the cast is unusually good and anticipations are of the brightest variety.

A tiny bit of powder,
 A tiny bit of rat,
 A monstrous bunch of feathers
 Sometimes called a hat.
 A pair of high heeled booties,
 A tiny little curl
 Makes the sweetest thing on earth,
 The modern High School girl.

TRAGEDY RECEIPT

Take one reckless, natural born fool,
 Two or three drinks of bad liquor,
 A fast, high powered joy wagon,
 Soak the fool in the liquor, place in car and turn loose. After due time remove wreckage, place in black satin lined box and garnish with flowers.

* * * *

PARTING

They met on the bridge at midnight,
 They will never meet again,
 For one was a cow, eastbound,
 The other a westbound train.

Jokes

Mr. Wilk in Algebra II: "Now if you understand this problem, do not work it but if you do not understand it, be sure and work it."

* * * *

Elroy Sergeant: "Say Wayne, your engine is missing."

Wayne Wilson: "Never mind! It doesn't show."

Harriet: "He said that you weren't the only one who died, so be consoled."

* * * *

Miss Melby: "William, what is a barren sea?"

Bill J.: "A barren sea is just like a desert."

* * * *

Miss A. Hardy (frying bacon at Junior-Senior party): "My neck is nearly burnt."

Austin Truitt: "I thought I smelled rubber burning around here."

* * * *

Sprutter: "Chippy, why do girls wear hair nets?"

Chippy: "I don't know why?"

Sprutter: "To keep the rats from being drowned by the marcell wave."

* * * *

William laughed when Miss Miller was telling the class of the Roman who swam the Tiber three times before breakfast.

"You don't doubt that a trained swimmer could do that do you, William?"

"No," said William, "but I wonder why he didn't make it four and get back to the same side where his clothes were."

Miss Current in English IV: There are many things which in later life one like to keep such as dolls, etc. Why, myself, I have parted with my dolls but I cannot part with my Teddy Bear.

* * * *

Leslie Legg: "Have you plenty of room, Elizabeth?"

Elizabeth Popejoy: "Yes, thank you."

Leslie: "Well, then, give me a little, please."

Miss Current: Edmond what's a herd bell?

Ed. Franklin: A cow bell.

* * * *

Miss Melby: "Barney, what's a pronoun?"

Barney: "Something that takes the place of a noun."

Miss Melby: "Give an example."

Barney: "Oleomargarine is a pronoun. It takes the place of butter."

* * * *

Mr. Kilburne surveyed himself in the hairbrush instead of the mirror.

"Gracious, I need a shave," he mused.

* * * *

Miss Miller: "Name something of importance existing today that was not in existence 100 years ago."

Ed Franklin: "Me."

* * * *

Everett Davis: "I don't think I should get zero on this paper."

Teacher: "Well, I don't either, but that's the lowest I could give you."

* * * *

Mr. Kilburne: "Janet, what is velocity?"

Janet: "Velocity is what a fellow lets go of a bee with."

* * * *

Father (peevd): "Leslie, I had a note from your teacher today."

Leslie: "That's alright, Pa; I'll keep it quiet."

* * * *

Mr. Kilburne: "What insect requires the least nourishment?"

Leila Inslee: "The moth. It eats holes."

Mr. Munson: "How many senses are there?"

Bright pupil: "Six."

Student: "I know it. The other is common sense."

* * * *

Boughton to Pearson: "See that hornets' nest over there? Well, I'll dare you to punch it with this stick."

Pearson: "I don't want to."

Goughton: "Why?"

Pearson: "I 'm afraid I'd be pinched for speeding."

* * * *

Mr. Liberty: "Albert, where did the Pilgrims land?"

Albert Smith: "I don't know whether it was on a Plymouth Rock or a Rhode Island Red."

* * * *

"Well, Everett, what lesson was most impressed on you today by your teacher?"

"That I need a thicker pair of pants," was Everett's reply.

* * * *

Miss Melby: "Amasa, what are the Middle Ages?"

Amasa: "The middle ages are the ones, which when the teachers reach, they stop counting."

* * * *

Irene Mulrooney: "Just think, Lucille, when I die these hands will be no longer and these feet will be no longer."

Lucille Mills: "Gosh, How long do you want them to be?"

* * * *

Miss Melby (to whispering class): "Stop it; Stop it! I say stop it!"

Amasa Kennedy: "I will if it comes this way."

* * * *

Mary C.: "Don't you hate to see boys hair parted in the middle?"

Helen G.: "Yes, all blocks have an alley running down the middle."

* * * *

Mr. Hungerford: "Let me help you start your Lizzy?"

Chester B. "Sure, you know anything about a Ford?"

Hunk: "A lot of funny stories."

* * * *

THE DINNER

A boarding house keeper named Skinner,
Was glad when his boarders got thinner;

He said, "now I'm able,
To seat more at the table,"

At the graveyard stew he called dinner.

* * * *

BAECHLER

His hair is stiff and screaming red,

His nose is long and lean,

His ears stick out like wings of a bat

And spoil the shape of his bean.

And all these things when put together

Sure make him a sight to be seen.

The fellow behind me is——

O his head is a wonderful block,

His coat is too tight,

His pants fit all right,

But he's got a big hole in his sock.

* * * *

MEN OF LETTERS

Some men mind their P's and Q's,

But pay no heed to their I. O. U.'s.

* * * *

Miss Melby: "Wayne, what happened to the arms of the Venus de Milo?"

Wayne: "I guess she got orders from Washington to scrape them."

* * * *

A Prussian by name of Von Block;

Mused on his low fighting stock;

"Though ich bin a lime,

I can kill at least time,"

So he busted a fine mantel clock."

* * * *

Mitch: "My, that's a beautiful arm you have."

Beulah: "Yes, I got that playing basketball."

Mitch: "Do you ever play football?"

* * * *

NOTICE!

Notice is hereby given that all Freshmen will be excused from taking part in fire drills in the future. The State Fire Marshal has ruled that extra caution is not necessary with any green things. Various experiments of late proved that green things do not burn.

Respectfully submitted,

Irving Munson,, Superintendent.

Miss Moore: "Did you ever see an ideal man?"

Miss Current: "No, if I did, I wouldn't be teaching school now."

* * * *

Fair Maiden: "Well, how are your exams?"

Miss Miller: "A complete success. Everyone flunks."

* * * *

Truitt: "I can see the love light in your face."

Grace: "Heavens! Where's my powder puff?"

* * * *

Judge: "You have been found guilty of speeding. What do you want, ten days or ten dollars?"

Hertz: "Ten dollars."

* * * *

Luther: "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"

Skigs: "I'd get them shined."

* * * *

Hess: "You wouldn't call for help if I kissed you, would you?"

Fair Maiden: "Do you need any?"

* * * *

As to short skirts, if they get much shorter they'll be——a-hem.

* * * *

Ikey and Izzy were separating after an evening together when Ikey said, "Au revoir."

"Vat's dat?" asked Izzy.

"Dat's good-by in French."

"Vell," said Izzy, "Carbolic Acid."

"Vat's dat?" asked Ikey.

"Dat's goodbye in any language."

* * * *

"Where are the men from Momence," asked a boy in Joliet.

"Why, they are the boys in the green suits and they match the suits."

* * * *

"Foiled," cursed the nut bar as the wrapper went around it.

* * * *

"I don't care to keep that school girl complexion," exclaimed Max as he dusted his lapels.

A JUNE SUNSET

By Gladys Hardy

When the sun sets, sending peace and rest
To birds and children in their nests,
A garden, fair as Eden grows
Above us, yellow, blue and rose.

A wonder stream of glory there,
With waves of rainbow fancy, fair;
Dancing and sailing on the breeze
As a bird flies over swaying trees.

The dark of night steals softly by
And croons to the flowers with gentle sigh;
Then smooths their tints with colors grey
And gives the sign of dying day.

Wesley Langdoc: "Don't go. You're leaving me entirely without reason."

Elizabeth Popejoy: "I always leave things as I find them."

ESSAY ON LUCK—By Bud Gamble

Oh, winter came with its sultry breeze,

And found me here in my B. V. D.'s,

Now summer comes with its heat and burning

In dad's red flannels I'm sojourning.

* * * *

Lloyd Eilers: "Mother! I learned that our history teacher doesn't take baths."

"Lloyd! What do you mean?"

Lloyd: "She said she never did anything in private that she wouldn't do in public."

* * * *

John B.: "Do you know Fat Burns?"

Abie M. "No."

John B.: "It does."

* * * *

Mr. Kilburne, obtaining information for General Science Class: "Hello, is this the weather bureau?"

"Uh, huh!"

Mr. Kilburne: "How about a shower this afternoon?"

"I dunno. If you need one, take it."

* * * *

Examiner (questioning applicant for life-saving job.) "What would you do if you saw a woman being washed out to sea?"

Applicant: "I'd throw her a cake of soap."

Examiner: "Why a cake of soap?"

Applicant: "To wash her back."

* * * *

Ed. Fox: "You wouldn't call for help if I kiss you, would you?"

Maggie G.: "Do you need any?"

* * * *

Elroy S.: "I'm half inclined to kiss you."

Leila I.: "How stupid of me, I thought you were merely round shouldered."

* * * *

Sweet mama,

Six feet tall,

Sleeps in the parlor

Feet in the hall.

Moral: Build your own home.

* * * *

Wayne W.: "Aren't you losing flesh lately?"

Clifford B.: "Yes, I've bought a safety razor."

* * * *

Dick (sentimentally) "I can see the love light shining in your face."

Leota (emotionally) "Heavens! Where's my powder puff!"

* * * *

"How many cigarettes does Art N. smoke a day?"

"Oh, any given number."

* * * *

Elinor M. "And did you miss me all summer?"

Harold H. "Did I? Every time I kissed another girl, I wished it was you."

Bob H. "The dance tonight?"

Ruth C. "I'd love to but my trunks haven't arrived yet."

(Bob fainted.)

* * * *

"Ah, tis the end!" said the blind man, as he felt the elephant's tail.

* * * *

Mark H. "I sleep with my dog every night."

Tuffy M. "That's very unhealthy."

Mark H.: "I know but he's used to it now."

* * * *

Minister: "Don't cry like that little boy."

Warren B.: "How do you want me to cry? It's the only way I know how."

* * * *

Bushel (on "ag." trip.) "What has that cow got the bell strapped around her neck for?"

Hungerford: "That's to call the calf when dinner's ready."

* * * *

Even if a boat arrives on time, it gets docked just the same.

* * * *

Tuffy M.: "I want some of that what-j-m-call it, it's named after a man."

Fair feminine clerk: "Oh, do you want Paul Mall?"

* * * *

About the only inspiration one can get out of a Botany class is the deep breath that always comes when the class adjourns.

* * * *

Leota S.: "Why did they put Bob out of the game?"

Ruth C.: "For holding."

Leota S.: "Oh, isn't that just like Bob!"

* * * *

Elmer C.: "How near were you to the right answer to the third question?"

Art N.: "Two seats away."

* * * *

Max W.: "Can I date you up for the Junior-Senior in 1924?"

Virginia: "I'm already dated up for that but you can take me to the Alumni Banquet."

* * * *

Alas for poor Bonnie S. Lee,
Who lighted a match just to see
Where the gas pipe was leaking,
His wife is now shrieking
"Oh, bring back my Bonnie to me."

* * * *

"My business is getting rotten," said the horseman as he gazed on his dead trotter.

* * * *

A cross-eyed girl may be virtuous, but she doesn't look straight.

* * * *

Walter L.: "Do you believe in free love?"

Pearl B.: "No, take me to the movies first."

* * * *

Mr. Kilburne after several failures to answer his question: "Next!"

John W. (waking up.) "Haircut and shave."

* * * *

What became of the audience when the speaker took the floor?

Lucy Y.: "Do you like bobbed hair?"

Dot W.: "Naw, gotta wash my neck too often."

* * * *

Ed Hess: "What's the difference between a kiss and a Green River?"

Marie Purkey: "I don't know, I've never had a Green River."

* * * *

Mary has a little lamp,
She has it trained no doubt;
For every time I call on her
The little lamp goes out.

* * * *

Junior: "Only fools are positive."

Freshman: "Are you sure?"

Junior: "I'm 'positive.'"

* * * *

"My, but 'sh foggy," remarked Irving as he tried to manoeuver through a frosted glass window.

* * * *

'TIS AN AGE OLD QUESTION

You'll admit, 'cause it's true, little woman,
If you're pretty, you're rather blasee,
And I can't even hope to impress you
By a movie or auto ride gay;
I must take you to dances and theatres,
Must spend dollars you'll never miss,
Can you blame me, oh damsel so costly
If at parting I steal just one kiss?

Now, the problem I face isn't simple,
I'd like to be friendly you know;
Would you think me a cad if I kissed you?
If I didn't would you think I was slow?

* * * *

"Beans," said the judge sternly, "the testimony shows that you hit this man twice."

"I did not, y'r honor," declared Beans stoutly, "the fur-st time I hit him I missed him."

* * * *

Dorothy P.: "Isn't the moon wonderful?"

Elmer C.: "That isn't the moon—that's my scarf pin."

* * * *

John W.: "I hit a guy in the nose yesterday, and you should have seen him run."

Clyde C.: "That so?"

John W.: "Yeh, but he didn't catch me!"

* * * *

A LETTER FROM MRS. LINE:

Dear Editor: My little Dewey has worms. What will help him?

Answer: Feed him lots of fish, they like 'em.

* * * *

Grace H.: "I kissed Austin last night."

Gladys H.: "Is that right?"

Grace H.: "No, but it's so."

Small car, wide street,
 Cross roads, cars meet,
 Large car swings 'round,
 Small car never found.

* * * *

"Strange Dick likes Leota so."

"Why she's not bad."

"That's what makes it so strange."

* * * *

Senior: "That freshman looks like a tough guy."

Junior: "Tough, say, he lives on half-baked potatoes, hard boiled eggs, brick ice cream, and rock candy."

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

Delivering this same high quality and careful personal supervision to schools has built up for us the largest college and high school annual engraving business in America—400 books yearly.

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for “J&O” commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere

Bloomington, Illinois.

Strong courses are offered in arts and sciences, music and law. A pre-medical course is offered fitting students for the best medical schools. Much attention given to healthful athletics. Many free scholarships available. Kemp hall affords a most attractive, comfortable home for young women. Bloomington is an ideal college town, with its splendid moral, religious, and social environment. Catalog sent on request. For information address
